Collin County has changed credit card processing companies and there is now a non refundable convenience fee to use a credit card.

From the Museum Coordinator

You may notice that the Collin County Farm Museum is offering fewer programs this season and this is a good thing. After two years of steady programs covering a wide range of topics, I have figured out what the Farm Museum can do and do well. I have experimented with different days and times to find the ones that suit you and us best. Despite this, I still want you to keep sending us suggestions for new class ideas or input of organization of workshops because I know we can always improve.

This year I have decided that instead of changing our workshops and classes, I am going to change the way I offer the workshops and classes to the public. What this means is that you now have the chance to get a group of your friends together or your children's friends and schedule one of these workshops as a private party, corporate retreat, homeschool group, boy/girl scout badge... These workshops can be adapted to a variety of different age groups and customized based on what your group wants to learn.

So don't miss the laughs if you can't make it to one of our scheduled workshops, instead schedule one on your own.

Thank You!

Don't Miss the Laughs!
Schedule a Workshop for Your Group!

If you are interest in some of the workshops offered at the Collin County Farm Museum but the dates or times don't work for you, consider getting a group of your friends together and scheduling your own private workshops.

This past year we've had several groups use our workshops as Corporate Retreats, Mom's Days, Birthday Parties, Anniversary Gifts, Book Club Meetings, Homeschool Projects, Boy/Girl Scout Badges, etc...

In addition to adult programs, the Collin County Farm Museum offers programs specifically for youths of different ages, including teens and tweens.

We have not had success with attendance when scheduled on Saturdays or afterschool despite survey request. As a result, the Youth Catalog was developed for you to schedule an activity with a group of youths or families. Home school groups have scheduled a workshop each month. Some are scheduled for birthday parties at the museum or scout projects.

For a copy of the Youth Catalog or to Schedule your group workshop please contact Jennifer Rogers at ccfm@collincountytx.gov or 972-548-4792
